PARKS MASTER PLAN PUBLIC MEETING MONDAY

(KILLEEN, TEXAS): The public is invited to a community open house to learn more about the Parks and Recreation Master Plan Monday from 6 to 8 p.m. at Killeen Civic & Conference Center, 3601 S. W.S. Young Drive.

“Input received at this meeting will help us continue to develop our long term vision for park and recreation activities in our community,” says Brett Williams, executive director of community services. “New facilities and programs depend largely on what is valuable to residents. Public participation in the process is extremely important so that we know what the people who recreate in our community need and want.”

The City of Killeen is seeking public input in the development of the plan and encourages adults and youth to participate by taking an online survey at www.killeentexas.gov/parks.

There are two versions of the online survey. The adult survey is intended for participants age 18 and up, and the youth survey is for those younger than 18. The survey is open through November 23, and participants will be entered for a variety of prizes for completing it.
